

Checklist for Responding to a Petition to Modify Parent-time

- You must complete a form before you file it. These instructions will help you complete the forms.
- The judicial services representative cannot complete a form for you.
 - Attach a copy of any document referred to in the form.
 - Keep a copy of all documents for your records.
 - Attend all court hearings.
 - Some forms may not apply in your case.

(1) Stipulate or Answer?

- Carefully and thoroughly read the Petition to Modify Parent-time and its supporting documents. If the Petition is granted, your future rights and responsibilities will be governed by the modified order.
- You have 20 days in which to file an Answer or otherwise appear in the case (30 days if you were served outside Utah).
- If you do not Answer or otherwise appear within that time, the other party can ask for a default judgment, which means the Petition will be granted even if you have a good case for opposing it.
- Decide whether you want to stipulate to (agree with) the requested change or oppose it. You may want to seek the advice of a lawyer.

(2) Stipulation to Enter Judgment

- If you agree with the requested change and do not want to oppose it, complete the Stipulation to Enter Judgment.
- Print your name and contact information at the top of the first page. Check whether you are the Petitioner or Respondent or the attorney for the Petitioner or Respondent. Keep the same party name as in the case that established the support order. For example, if you were the Petitioner in the earlier case, you will be the Petitioner in the modification, even if you are the party responding to the request that child support be modified.
- Complete the heading exactly as it appears in the Petition.
- Carefully and thoroughly read the Petition to Modify Parent-time and its supporting documents.
- If you agree with the requested change and do not want to oppose it, check the boxes on the Stipulation to Enter Judgment, making sure that each is true.

- Attach any required documents and forms.

- Print your name and contact information at the top of the first page. Check whether you are the Petitioner or Respondent or the attorney for the Petitioner or Respondent. Keep the same party name as in the case that established the support order. For example, if you were the Petitioner in the earlier case, you will be the Petitioner in the modification, even if you are the party responding to the request that child support be modified.
- Complete the heading exactly as it appears in the Petition.
- If you agree with a statement in the Petition, print that paragraph number in Paragraph (1) in the Answer. If the statements in the Petition do not have paragraph numbers, describe the statement. For example, "Respondent claims that"
- If you disagree with a statement in the Petition, print that paragraph number in Paragraph (2) in the Answer. If the statements in the Petition do not have paragraph numbers, describe the statement. For example, "Petitioner claims that"
- If you do not have enough information to agree or disagree with a statement in the Petition, print that paragraph number in Paragraph (3) in the Answer. If the statements in the Petition do not have paragraph numbers, describe the statement. For example, "The other party claims that"
- Respond to paragraphs in the Petition that are not completely true or false in Paragraphs (4) and (5). For each paragraph from the Petition that falls into this category, explain what part of the other party's claim is true and what part is not.

(a) To add an affirmative defense

- An affirmative defense is a reason that the other party should lose even if all of the claims are true. For example, the other party made a procedural mistake, like not serving you properly, or the court does not have jurisdiction. You might not have any affirmative defenses.
- If you have any affirmative defenses, state them in Paragraphs (6) and (7). Each defense should be in a separately numbered paragraph.

- See URCP 8\(b\) about affirmative defenses.

(b) To add a counterclaim

- A counterclaim is a claim that you have against the Petitioner. You might not have any counterclaims. See URCP 13 about counterclaims.
- If you have a counterclaim, state each of the elements of that claim separately in Paragraphs (8) and (9).
- If the party who files the Petition decides not to proceed with the case, you may be able to modify parent-time to your satisfaction only if you include a counterclaim.
- There is no fee for filing an Answer, but there is a fee for a counterclaim. For more information, see our webpage on Fees.

(c) Date, sign and file your Answer.
