

Utah Court Roster
Application for Domestic Mentor status

You must be a Utah Court-qualified Divorce Mediator to apply for Domestic Mentor status

Name _____

Address _____

Phone Number _____

Email Address _____

The hours required to achieve Domestic Mentor status are hours where the applicant was acting as a mediator conducting a mediation session. These hours may not include case work, responding to emails or inquiries, pre-meetings, or preparation of legal paperwork etc...; only time spent actively mediating between parties can be included in the 300 hours.

Attach documentation of at least 300 hours spent conducting domestic mediation sessions as follows:

For each case provide:

- Date, time, and location of mediation session
- Parties present
- Court Case Number (if no court case number, a copy of the Agreement to Mediate, signed and dated by all parties, is required)
- Domestic Case Type (e.g., divorce, parentage, custody and support or modifications)
- Number of hours spent in active mediation session (the maximum number of hours accredited per mediated matter or civil action is 10)

Location where will you hold your mentoring sessions: (a domestic mentorship may not be conducted exclusively online)
