

Dear Judge,

I think my mom and dad are fighting because of me. Could you put me in a new family so my mom and dad can be happy again?

Sandy S.

---

Dear Judge,

In a perfect world my parents wouldn't be divorced.

In a perfect world my parents could forget themselves and focus on me sometimes.

In a perfect world I could share my happy thoughts with all the people I love.

In a perfect world I could have the people that are important to me at the events that are important to me.

In a perfect world you wouldn't have become the real parent in our family to make my parents act like adults.

In a perfect world I could talk to my parents instead of writing to you.

In hopes for a perfect world,

Natasha N.

---

Dear Judge,

Please dont not make me choose.

William

---

Hardwick, Charlotte. "Dear Judge,": Kid's Letters to the Judge." Canada: Pale Horse Publishing, 2002. 38, 43, 50. Print.